INTRODUCTION

Situated less than five minutes from downtown, this 10ac parcel in the rapidly expanding westward city limits of Belgrade offers a unique opportunity for development. Currently zoned CL (Community Living) and surrounded by brand new single family (Cloverleaf Meadows) and high-density communities (Altitude Apartments), 225 Bolinger offers a rare residential or potentially mixed-use development in one of Southwestern Montana's fastest growing cities. With major collector and thoroughfare streets bordering the property, coupled with direct utility access, 225 Bolinger is a near ready-made site for ground-up building. Limited site work is required given the flat topography and bordering developments provide precedence for density and height. Teed-up development opportunities like this don't come around that often. Lot lines shown are approximate, and certain items may have been digitally removed from the listing photos for presentation purposes.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the "Valley of Flowers". The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world's primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
