INTRODUCTION

Set on 1.412 acres in the sought-after El Dorado Country Estates subdivision, this meticulously maintained 3,103 sq ft home offers space, privacy, and a thoughtful blend of updates and charm. Originally built in 1985 and comprehensively remodeled around 2011, the home features five bedrooms, a sixth non-conforming room/office, three bathrooms, and two living areas ideal for flexible living. The upper level includes 3 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, and a laundry room with utility sink; downstairs you'll find 2 more bedrooms, a full bath, the nonconforming room/office, unfinished work room, mechanical/storage room, a wood stove with brick surround, and a spacious family room. Vaulted ceilings, south-facing windows, and multiple skylights fill the semi-open main level with natural light. The wood stove on its floor to ceiling brick hearth with firewood storage brings warmth and character. Finishes include granite counters, knotty wood cabinetry, custom light fixtures, wood laminate flooring, tile in baths, laundry room, and mudroom, and carpet in bedrooms. Outside, enjoy a covered front porch, back deck, mature trees, lilacs, tiger lilies, and a Seasonal stream off of Hyalite Creek along the edge of the property. In 2024, the sellers invested $27K in landscaping and underground sprinklers, and $37K for a new pressure-dose septic system (permitted for 5 bedrooms). Additional updates include a 2021 roof, newer water heater (2024), radon mitigation system, and new LG electric stove/oven. The attached garage fits two vehicles with extra storage, and the long driveway provides additional parking. The home is located in a well-kept, low-traffic neighborhood on Bozeman's coveted south side, with no HOA and easy access to the Hyalite Recreation Area, amenities, and Montana State University.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
