INTRODUCTION

Single-Level Beauty Next to Gallatin Regional Park - Welcome to 3660 Lolo Way, where Bozeman living is at its best-single-level ease, walking trails moments away, and Gallatin Regional Park just around the corner. From dog walks to summer evenings at the pond, this neighborhood delivers lifestyle first. Step inside and you'll immediately feel how open and comfortable this home is. The vaulted ceilings and engineered wood floors make the main living space feel airy, while alder cabinetry, granite counters, and a butcher block keep the kitchen both polished and practical. Stainless steel appliances handle the work; you just decide if tonight is a quiet dinner in or friends gathered around the island. The living room anchors the home with a wood-burning stove that begs for winter evenings and snowy mornings. French doors lead to a large concrete patio and a fully fenced backyard-big enough for BBQs, small enough to actually maintain (and then go fishing). The primary suite is tucked on its own wing, with a walk-in closet, large shower, dual vanities, and a secondary private patio access for those first sips of coffee in the morning. Two additional bedrooms and a full bath round out the layout, giving you flexibility for guests, office space, or a little extra breathing room. Details that matter: central A/C, ceiling fans, blackout blinds in the bedrooms, 220 volt wiring in the garage, custom wood finishes throughout, and a two-car garage. The Crossing community takes care of trails, parks, and green space so you can enjoy them without worrying about upkeep. This isn't just a house; it's a launch pad for the best parts of Bozeman living: morning escapes through Gallatin Regional Park, and the ease of having coffee shops, grocery stores, and restaurants nearby. If you've been looking for a home that's equal parts functional, warm, and perfectly placed-you just found it. Please note: The workbench in the garage is free-standing and can easily be removed at the buyer's discretion (this is noted because it may seem like a tight squeeze for two vehicles with the workbench present)

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
