INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Timeless Days, a rare architectural offering on Spring Creek Drive, where legacy design, location, and opportunity converge. Designed in 1959 by noted Bozeman architect Ozzie Berg, this mid century modern residence has been owned by the same family for decades and remains an authentic example of its era. Thoughtfully sited on a 1.2 acre parcel overlooking Bozeman Creek, Graf Park, and the city trail system, its elevated position command sweeping views of Mount Ellis and the Bridger Mountains. The in town setting with views and live water is nearly impossible to replicate today. The homes architecture reflects the clarity and restraint of mid century design: expansive floor to ceiling glass, vaulted clear span ceilings, dramatic cantilevered rooflines, and strong indoor outdoor connections. Materials such as cherry wood paneling, native Montana stone, and Ipe decking speak to the quality and intention of the original build. With over 4,500 square feet of total living space, the layout offers flexibility rarely found in homes of this era. The main level includes a primary bedroom, office, and laundry, allowing for easy single level living, while the lower level provides additional bedrooms, a large family or recreation space, dry sauna, and walk out access to a generous patio and creek side grounds. Importantly, this property presents a compelling opportunity for a buyer who values architectural bones, location, and scale, and who is excited to thoughtfully evolve a home over time. Whether refreshed, partially reimagined, or carefully renovated, the residence offers a strong foundation for a next chapter that honors its past while shaping its future. Homes of this caliber, on this stretch of Spring Creek, with this combination of land, views, and architectural pedigree, rarely come to market.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres(2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world's primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size(Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
