INTRODUCTION

This Appaloosa Plan stands out in Prescott Ranch for the right reasons. The upgrades are thoughtful and noticeable, and the southern exposure fills the main level with natural light throughout the day. The layout flows naturally living room with a gas fireplace, dining area, and a well-appointed kitchen with generous counter space and a walk-in pantry. A dedicated main-level office is a genuine bonus, especially for anyone working from home or just needed dedicated office space. All three bedrooms are upstairs, including a primary suite with a tiled shower, double vanity, and a walk-in closet that delivers on space. Storage is a quiet strength of this home built into the layout and capped off by an oversized two-car garage with an extended bay, ready for a workshop, gym, or just extra room to breathe. One of the bigger differentiators here is the lot itself larger than most in the community, giving the backyard real breathing room. Mountain views frame nearly every window, and the front porch and back patio give you genuine outdoor living space. The private hot tub is a natural fit for Montana evenings, and with the extra yard space, there's room to spread out and make it your own. Central air keeps the home comfortable year-round. Prescott Ranch is a well-connected community with parks, walking trails, and playgrounds nearby, and convenient schools close at hand. But the real draw for many is what's just beyond the neighborhood. Belgrade puts you within easy reach of some of Montana's best year-round outdoor recreation whether that's skiing and snowboarding in the winter, hiking and mountain biking when the trails open up, or fishing the Yellowstone and its tributaries through the warmer months. It's the kind of location where the weekends have a way of filling themselves.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
