INTRODUCTION

Tucked into the coveted Cattail Creek neighborhood, 3376 Fen Way is a 2020-built contemporary with warmth in all the right places and a rare income-producing ADU that makes it one of the most versatile offerings on Bozeman's northwest side. The main residence opens to a light-drenched floor plan where oversized windows frame mountain views from nearly every room. Polished concrete floors and clean architectural lines give the space a modern edge, balanced by rich wood trim, solid wood doors, and the quiet luxury of high-efficiency radiant in-floor heat underfoot. The kitchen anchors the main level with quartz countertops, custom tile, and stainless appliances, flowing seamlessly into the dining and living areas. A main-floor bedroom, half bath, and dedicated laundry round out the level, while upstairs you'll find the primary suite alongside two additional bedrooms and a second full bath. Above the attached garage, a private 728 square foot one-bedroom ADU delivers serious optionality complete with its own full kitchen, living room, full bath, and laundry. Whether you're looking at long-term rental income, a Bozeman short-term stay, a guest retreat, or multigenerational living, the ADU is a legitimate asset, not an afterthought. Step outside to a fully landscaped yard with underground sprinklers and a covered patio built for long Montana evenings. The location is quintessential Cattail Creek: seconds from the neighborhood's parks, ponds, and trail network, with Gallatin High, Chief Joseph Middle, and the shops and restaurants along Baxter and Oak all just minutes away. New construction quality, mountain views, and a turnkey ADU all inside Bozeman city limits. Homes like this don't sit.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
