INTRODUCTION

Looking for the perfect Montana hunting property to check your boxes? Under an hour to Bozeman? Check. End-of-the-road solitude? Check. Expansive views stretching across Montanas wild country? Check. Consistent big game? Absolutely. A renovated off-grid cabin to anchor it all? Check. You could keep going, but the truth is properties like this rarely come available, especially one located just 28 miles from the Bozeman airport and under an hour from downtown. Spanning approximately 654 acres, this ranch offers a compelling blend of diverse terrain, from timbered draws and sun-soaked ridges to over 200 acres of productive tillable ground well- suited for food plots and habitat enhancement. Three natural springs, thoughtfully developed and associated stock tanks, provide reliable water sources that support both livestock use and a strong, consistent wildlife presence. The topography strikes a rare and highly desirable balance, varied enough to hold game year-round, yet open enough to hunt effectively, allowing animals to feed, rut, and bed with a sense of security that keeps them coming back to the ranch. Decades of successful harvests speak for themselves, with a proven track record of quality and trophy mule deer, whitetail deer, elk, and other game species frequenting the ranch. Tucked at the end of the road and surrounded by vast legacy ranches, the privacy here is genuine and increasingly difficult to find. A renovated off-grid cabin lies in the most private corner of the property, simple, purposeful, and exactly what it should be, offering the perfect place to unwind after a day on the land or temporary accommodations as you build your dream cabin. The ranch is further protected by a conservation easement, preserving its peaceful character and open landscape for generations to come. Very few properties of this caliber and location ever reach the market, particularly in the highly sought-after foothills of the Bridger Mountain Range, making this a rare opportunity to own a truly special piece of Montana that delivers seclusion, accessibility, and many sporting endeavors without compromise.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
