INTRODUCTION

Welcome to 8937 Sandy Creek Lane sitting at the edge of Sypes Canyon on 12.33 acres, built to face the valley. The original owner spent a year living on the land before breaking ground, getting the sun angles right, watching how light moves through the trees, orienting every window with intention. The result is a home that earns what it looks at. The layout runs four levels: a primary living floor with open kitchen, living, mud room and wood burning stove. The master suite sits on the upper level showing casing the views with a large walk in closet, ensuite and access to the roof top deck at the end of the hall. A fully independent lower level with its own two bedrooms, full kitchen, and bath. That lower level is turnkey separate entrance, complete, its own world while still being tied into the main home. Upstairs and down, the home is filled with light and long sight lines toward the valley. Outside is where this property opens up. Three distinct outdoor spaces face different directions and serve different purposes. The rooftop crows nest is covered on the Fourth of July, you watch the whole valley light up from up there in almost any weather. The lower walkout patio runs alongside a hot tub and bar, backed by the Ridge. Behind the main house, a shaded retreat sits among raised garden beds, fenced and deer-proofed productive, private, quiet. The 14x28 shop is real working space: 50-amp service, insulated walls sheathed in plywood. A separate fenced garden, a gazebo, and a two-car garage with 10-foot ceilings round out the structures. Public land backs the property on two sides State and Federal with a private trail from the back door to the Ridge and the Bridger Traverse. The forest is active: bear, moose, elk, mountain lion, fox, owl, wild turkey. The home is self contained with 1000 gallon cistern, buried propane tank and solar covers the electricity. This home was intentionally designed to live in the light, showcase the valley, and be outside in every season all while being 15 minutes from Bozeman.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres(2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size(Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
