INTRODUCTION

A rare offering in Bozeman's coveted Bon Ton Historic District built in 1902 and thoughtfully converted into five income-producing apartments on one of the most walkable blocks south of Main Street. Tree-lined streets, historic mansions, and the city's most architecturally distinguished residential corridor define the address. Downtown Bozeman, Montana State University, Cooper Park and various trail systems are all within an easy stroll or short bike ride. Set on an 8,400+ square foot lot in the heart of the historic core, the property delivers what the Bozeman market almost never offers in one package: an irreplaceable in-town location, a stabilized rent roll, and a meaningful redevelopment path. The five-unit configuration produces consistent income with rents currently positioned below market a built-in lever for the next owner to realize immediate upside through routine turnover and modernization, without speculative assumptions. Beyond the in-place cash flow, the long-term value sits in the land. Bozeman's historic neighborhoods near downtown have become the city's most contested and sought-after development ground, and the Bon Ton has been repeatedly cited by city planners as a model of the "missing middle" density Bozeman is actively encouraging. The lot's location, dimensions, and existing multi-unit use position the property as one of the rare in-fill opportunities in Bozeman's most desirable submarket a hold-for-yield asset today, with optionality for the next owner to reimagine the site. Opportunities like this on one of the most prestigious blocks in Bozeman don't come around that often.

GALLATIN COUNTY

Located in a sweeping valley in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Gallatin County is the most populated and fastest growing county in scenic southwest Montana. Gallatin Valley has a rich history. Native Americans referred to this area as the “Valley of Flowers”. The name seems appropriate because of the great variety of wild flowers found on the mountainsides as well as in the valley. Gallatin Valley derives its name from the Gallatin River, one of the forks of the Missouri river that rises in Yellowstone Park. The Gallatin river, Jefferson river, and Madison river all merge at the town of Three Forks to form the Missouri River. Lewis and Clark named the rivers on their famous expedition to this part of the world in 1805.

There are approximately 1,682,048 acres (2,500 square miles) in Gallatin County including over 16,500 acres in surface water. Approximately 800,000 acres in Gallatin County are owned by the public and managed by several local and national agencies including the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks, Montana Department of Transportation, Department of Natural Resources & Conservation and various local governments. The U.S. Forest Service is the largest land holder in Gallatin

County, currently managing over 665,000 acres. In addition to the Forest Service, various state departments manage approximately 61,000 acres. The Bureau of Land Management holds just over 9,000 acres and an additional 1,600 acres belongs to local governments. On the southern edge of Gallatin County is Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone National Park is one of the world’s primary wildlife preserves and has the greatest concentration of geysers and hot springs in America. Yellowstone National Park is 2,219,789 acres in size (Larger than Rhode Island and Delaware combined). Over 97,600 acres of Yellowstone National Park is located within Gallatin County.
